Berlin Crisis at Boiling Point

Red Reply To Allies Awaited

Demand End Of Blockade

(Compiled from Wire Services)

BERLIN — Statesmen the world over today anxiously awaited the Kremlin's response to demands of the United States, Britain and France that the blockade of Berlin be lifted.

Russia remained silent for the time-being, but reacted to the protest by threatening the Anglo-American airlift and clamping new curbs on motor traffic.

Tension mounted as American and British commanders cancelled all leaves for their personnel in Berlin. The French were expected to follow suit.

In England Winston Churchill warned bluntly today that the western allies risk war with Russia if they yield to Soviet pressure in Berlin.

"If we were to yield upon this grave issue, we would, in my opinion, destroy the best chance which is now open to us of escaping a third world war," he said in a speech at a Conservative party rally at Woodford.

Churchill described the period of waiting for a Soviet reply to the blockade protest "an anxious hour."

REFUSES TO SUBMIT

In Berlin Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, U. S. deputy military governor, declared the Americans have "no intention of submitting" to the latest Soviet restrictions on the last route linking the city with the western zones of Germany. These restriction took the form of demanding the right to approve all western allied motor vehicle traffic leaving Berlin for western Germany.

Russia's reply to the defiant note of the western powers declaring they will not quit Berlin is expected to determine whether the case will be taken to the United Nations.

The stiff protests over the blockade of Berlin, released simultaneously in Washington, London and Paris, declared that the three allied powers will not be forced to leave Berlin by "threats, pressure or other action."

In Washington, Secretary of State George C. Marshall claimed today that the Soviet blockade is illegal and pointed to a long-secret Truman-Stalin exchange to prove it.

He recalled that President Truman on June 14, 1945, proposed in a message to the Soviet leader that American and Russian forces be instructed to withdraw to previously agreed areas of occupation in Germany on June 21. The President made this proposal contingent on Premier Stalin's approval of free access of air, rail, and land transportation for American forces from Frankfurt and Bremen to Berlin.

Marshall said the Truman-Stalin agreement went into full effect when the United States withdrew its armed forces from Saxony and Thuringia, deep in the zone of Germany now occupied by Russia.

School Repair Levy Defeated

MILLERSBURG — A proposed 2.6-mill levy to provide $12,000 in the next three years for rebuilding and repair of the one-room Leeper school in Salt Creek township failed of approval, Prosecutor Raymond Miller ruled today.

The township's voters gave the proposed three-year levy 78 approving votes yesterday to 47 against. The township school board had believed that only a 60 per cent vote would be required. Under such a vote requirement, the levy would have been approved by three votes.

Today, however, Prosecutor Miller ruled that a 65 per cent vote of approval was needed to make the levy effective.

Denies Embezzlement

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Miss Alma Luther, 36, was under an embezzlement charge today involving $7,271.25. The money, the prosecution charged, was meant for automobile registration fees while she was employed as deputy registrar in a Youngstown firm. She pleaded innocent in municipal court.

This Time It's Woman Who Pays

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A Cleveland judge has ordered the tables turned for once.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Burt W. Griffin ruled yesterday that Joseph P. Monroe is entitled to temporary alimony from his wife, and ordered the wife, Alice, 40, to pay her husband $75 monthly for the next three months.

Monroe told the court his wife ordered him out of her home after he had turned over to her nearly $3,000 of an insurance settlement received when he broke his leg. Mrs. Monroe said she turned out her husband because he was "soldiering" at home and refused to return to work.

Meat Prices Now Highest In History

Wholesale Bids Climb Steadily

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—Livestock and wholesale meat prices soared this week to the highest levels in U. S. history, department of agriculture officials said today.

They predicted the latest upsurge would send retail prices to new record highs within a "very" short time.

"Only a stiff consumer boycott can head off the spectacular spiral," one official said.

The pressure of demand and customer buying power shoved meat prices steadily upward throughout the week. Hog prices set record, all-time highs at some markets Thursday. Cattle prices rose to new highs.

AVERAGE RUNS HIGH

The department of agriculture reported at Chicago that the weekly average price of all livestock on July 3 was $35.61 a hundred pounds. The figure — which represented sales all over the country—was higher than it had ever been before in history.

It also was $8 more than it was only three months earlier. It was the tell-tale mark, the officials said, of a bull market that is pushing prices constantly upward.

Although the average figures for this week weren't in yet, the agriculture department experts said they undoubtedly would show another increase and a new all-time high.

Essay Contest Winners Set For Trip East

When the eastbound Erie passenger train rolls out of Mansfield this afternoon just after 4 o'clock, two young Mansfielders will be aboard, headed for a three-day all-expense vacation in New York City.

Miss Emily Campbell and Harold Leiendecker, winners in the News-Journal's "Men Of Erie" essay contest this spring, are scheduled to remain in New York until Wednesday, with a complete vacation all mapped out for them and all the bills marked "paid."

Included in the fun in store for the pair are: a sight-seeing yacht trip around New York harbor, sighting trips around the city, visits to Radio City, a theater performance, famous restaurant, and a stay at a big New York hotel.

'Jail Break' Suspect Held

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and Prosecutor Theodore Lutz were closeted in the sheriff's quarters at county jail today with a man suspected of participation in a plot to smuggle saws into the jail.

The 29-year-old suspect was apprehended by deputies as the result of what Sheriff Robinson called a "tip."

Robinson withheld other details of the investigation. He and Lutz had been conducting their investigation for more than two hours at noon.

New Heat Wave Grips City

Dry Spell Brings Grass Fire Outbreak

A new heat wave gripped Mansfield today with the mercury headed toward the 90-degree mark by afternoon.

The weatherman had no promise of relief before early next week. The mercury is due to climb tonight and tomorrow with scattered thundershowers probable Sunday.

The mercury stood at 85 at noon today, one degree under yesterday's high.

With no rain falling in Mansfield for the past eight days, crops are beginning to need moisture and grass fires are keeping firemen busy.

The dry spell was blamed for four grass fires yesterday afternoon and early today.

The first fire was recorded at 12.55 p. m. when one engine from Central station extinguished a grass fire at the corner of Forest and Bartley avenues. At 1:45 p. m. firemen were called to Park avenue east and Bushnell street where sparks from a train had ignited grass nearby.

Station 3 firemen were called at 4:47 p. m. to extinguish a grass fire at the Hedges street dumping grounds. The call was repeated at 2:35 a. m today when the grass there caught fire again.

Dem. Rebels Get In Line

Truman Regains Full Control

PHILADELPHIA —(UP) — Rebellious state delegations began swinging behind President Truman today as the movement to supplant him with General Eisenhower or a New Dealer faded and failed.

California's big delegation with 54 votes tumbled off an early train with well more than half ready to vote for Mr. Truman's nomination Wednesday night and the others wavering.

Boss Frank Hague of New Jersey was expected to surrender to the President this afternoon after a delegation caucus.

A few New Dealers and unhappy southerners still sought a leader for the stop-Truman movement. They can't find their man.

The big show tonight was to have been a stop-Truman caucus of party big shots including James Roosevelt of California, Hague, Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York and Boss Jacob M. Arvey of Chicago.

Most of the top flight party leaders have bolted the caucus to snatch at Mr. Truman's coat tails. Arvey and O'Dwyer were first to run. Roosevelt followed them today.

Meanwhile a drive with powerful backing was under way to drum up support of Supreme Court Justice Douglas for the vice presidential nomination.

A report that Douglas was the White House choice for the No. 2 spot spread gloom among many pro-Truman Democrats, who feared selection of the liberal Supreme court justice would offend already rebellious southerners.

Bus Kills Woman

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Faulty air brakes on an Ohio Greyhound bus were blamed today for the death of Mrs. Edna M. Holtzwarth, 60, of Youngstown. Mrs. Holtzwarth was fatally injured late yesterday at an east side Greyhound station when the bus rolled into a crowd on the loading platform.

Shelby Adopts Big Budget

SHELBY — Shelby's $133,440 budget for 1949, an increase of $15,500 over this year, was adopted by city council at a special session last night. The budget was presented by Chester Monn, director of finance.

The expected report on improvement to the Municipal Light and Power company was not presented. The engineer failed to appear.

A proposed election to levy a one-mill tax for three years to raise $30,000 for expanding the fire department was discussed but not acted upon.

Bomb Probe Stalemated

The list of clues in the Crescent cafe bombing last Monday was dwindling today as police admitted they had no real lead in the case and were still in doubt about the motive.

Two firemen and two policemen were injured in the blast at the rear of the cafe on South Park street.

"By the process of elimination, we are narrowing the field down to a few clues," Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab said.

Chief Schwab said he still believes the bomb planter put the bomb where he intended it to be, despite reports that the "wrong place" was bombed.

John W. Selby, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said that no reward will be offered for the capture of the bomb planter. The commissioners are empowered to offer a reward.

Court Supports Legalized Vice

RENO, Nev.—(AP)—The return of legalized prostitution to Reno today had a go-ahead from the state courts, but a fight was shaping up in other quarters.

State District Judge Merwyn Brown ruled yesterday the war emergency under which Reno's police guarded "stockade" was closed had ended.

War Spreads In Palestine

Bombs Again Rock Tel Aviv

(By Associated Press)

Fighting between Jews and Arabs in Palestine continued to spread on the second day after expiration of the four-week truce.

At Cairo, Egypt, a spokesman for the Israeli government said Jewish troops had killed 300 Egyptians and captured 200 in a battle near Isdud, 25 miles south of Tel Aviv. The Jews claimed capture of important Lydda airport, 15 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, in a strong sweep against Iraqi forces. Syrian reports said 500 Jews had been killed in fighting in the Jacob's bridge area below Lake Hula on the eastern frontier.

Tel Aviv was bombed again by two unidentified Spitfire planes. However, a Jewish communique said there were no casualties.

A dispatch from the Arab-held old city of Jerusalem said Arab irregulars with Arab legion mortar and artillery support advanced 50 yards deeper into the new city.

A sniper fired through the car of U.S. Consul General John J. McDonald, but the consul was not hurt.

Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine mediator, left Rhodes by plane for Lake Success, N. Y., to report to the security council on his failure thus far to obtain a new 10-day cease fire.

He is expected to arrive Monday and probably will report to an emergency session of the council Tuesday.

Bandits Kill Bar Owner

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Police were searching today for two armed bandits who killed a Columbus tavern owner and seriously wounded a woman customer during a holdup last night.

The pair also was suspected of another tavern holdup just a few minutes earlier which netted them $8,000 in bills, coins and endorsed checks.

Earl C. Ambrose, 48, owner of the Ambrose tavern, was killed instantly in the second holdup when he tried to escape and was shot twice in the back.

A woman customer, 42-year-old Ruth McBurney, was sitting in a booth near Ambrose and was struck in the abdomen by one of the shots intended for the tavern owner. At White Cross hospital her condition was listed as critical.

Railroads Under Private Control

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The nation's railroads were back under full private management today for the first time in two months.

Seized May 10 by order of President Truman to thwart an impending strike, the carriers were turned back to their owners yesterday afternoon following settlement of a wage dispute.

Mayor Denies Rat Stab

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn late yesterday alternatively denied, qualifiedly admitted and then re-denied that he told a technical adviser of the department of the interior that rat control was a "crack-pot idea."

When informed that Jesse D. Stratiff, of the U. S. Fish and Wild Life service, had written the News-Journal a letter stating that Mayor Vaughn "discourteously referred to the rat control as a crack-pot idea," the mayor said "I didn't make any statement of the kind."

As the interview progressed, Mayor Vaughn became more belligerent, raised his voice, and admitted he might have said something like that, but insisted he didn't use the word "crack-pot."

At the termination of the interview, the mayor again vigorously denied that he made "any such statement."

Stratiff, who was official observer at Ashland's housecleaning day last week, wrote he had made every effort to promote a similar movement in Mansfield at the same time the Ashland project was started.

'TOO COSTLY'

"Your health department was ready and willing to cooperate, but when I talked to your mayor, . . . he refused to allow any cooperation . . .," Stratiff wrote.

Mayor Vaughn said he had "promised any cooperation within reason," but that "he would never advocate an ordinance to rat proof all buildings because it would cost more to rat proof some of the buildings in the north end of town than the buildings are worth." He added, however, that he was no expert.

When it was suggested that Stratiff qualified as an expert on rat control, Mayor Vaughn caustically referred to him as "just a New Dealer with a soft government job."

The mayor recalled that Dr. R. B. Moyer, of the city board of health, had been sent to Columbus to attend a rat control school.

The importance of rat control was spotlighted yesterday by Dr. Harry Wain, city-County health commissioner, who suggested that "flies, rats and other vermin be fought as a precautionary measure against an infantile paralysis epidemic."

Police Halt Body Search

CLEVELAND —(INS)—Cleveland police held up digging today for the body of Lorna Rowe, 21-year-old Dearborn, Mich., girl, with receipt of word from Detroit police that the dump burial "victim" is believed alive.

According to word received by Cleveland authorities, a girl identified as Lorna Rowe was arrested for intoxication June 19 of this year in Detroit. George Andrews, 32, of Detroit, convicted auto thief, has confessed murdering a "Lorna" and burying her body on the Cleveland lakefront last January.

Andrews, brought to Cleveland from the Blawnox, Pa., workhouse, was given a lie-detector test yesterday, results of which were not immediately announced. Investigators termed his showing "good," however.

Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber said activity in the case will stop until a full report is received from Detroit police.

Parley Set For Monday

Negotiations in the contract dispute at the Humphryes Manufacturing company were continued to Monday at 2 p. m., in company offices, M. A. Downs, plant superintendent, said today.

Downs said no settlement was reached yesterday at a meeting of company officials and officers of Local 758, United Electrical, Radio and Machine workers, CIO, the union representing the workers.

The contract dispute flared into the open Thursday morning as workers staged a one-day strike in protest of a stalemate of contract negotiations. Production was resumed at the plant yesterday morning.

PAPER SIGNS CONTRACT

NEW YORK —(U.P.)— The New York Times and the New York Newspaper Guild today announced the signing of a new contract providing wage increases of 10 per cent for more than 2,000 news, editorial, commercial and other employes.

Trio Dies As Autos Collide

Train Crushes Truck At Shelby

The collision of a St. Louis-bound streamline train with a truck in Shelby and a two-car wreck near Bucyrus today resulted in the death of three area men and the critical injury of two others.

The dead: John Savage, 25, and Orville Hoover, 28, both of Bucyrus, and Laverne Steigerwalt, 26, of New Washington.

All three were occupants of one car involved in the automobile wreck last night on State Route 98, one and a half miles east of Bucyrus. The wife of one of the dead men said they were planning a fishing trip and were testing the car preparatory to their departure.

The driver of the other vehicle, Archie Cooper, 28, of Bucyrus, was reported in critical condition by Bucyrus City hospital attaches. They reported he suffered two broken arms, a fractured hip, and head and chest injuries.

NURSE SEES CRASH

An eye-witness, Miss Ruth Pfleiderer, of Sulphur Springs, a Bucyrus City hospital nurse, said that the vehicle with three occupants "flipped over on the coupe driven by Cooper."

At 7:45 a. m. today, the New York Central south-bound diesel-powered Southwestern Limited ploughed into a half-ton truck driven by Arduf Berger, 27, of New Washington, at the Smiley Big-4 crossroads in Shelby.

Two workers of the Mansfield Hardware company, Joe Miller, of Shelby and Tony Fenner, of Plymouth, administered first aid to Berger before he was carried to the Shelby Memorial hospital.

SECOND IN 3 MONTHS

Hospital attaches said the full extent of Berger's injuries had not been determined. He was treated for lacerations of the head and face and X-rays were taken.

The auto-train collision was the second at the Big-4 crossroads in three months. A single warning sign is the only marker at the intersection.

A nine-year-old boy, Kenneth Van Ness, of Shelby, was the only eye-witness. He said the Berger truck was traveling west on Smiley avenue.

The train stopped more than 350 yards from the scene of the collision. Police estimated that Berger was hurled 45 yards from his vehicle. He was found in a dazed condition and spoke incoherently, investigating officers reported.

Pact Sought By Schuman

PARIS —(AP)— Premier Robert Schuman met with labor leaders today in an 11th hour attempt to stave off a general strike of government workers.

After an all-night cabinet session, the premier met with representatives of the communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGT) and later with the anti-communist workers' force union of civil servants.

He also summoned leaders of the Christian Democratic Trade union.

All three union groups demand a shakeup in the present system of salary classification for civil servants.

A General Confederation of Labor spokesmen said Schuman did not satisfy the demands in the conference and added that the union rank and file were prepared to decide on their action later in the day.

WHEAT FLOODS CITY—Unexpectedly high yield of wheat this year in Kansas has resulted in the cramming of storage facilities beyond capacity. As a consequence an embargo on rail shipments of wheat into the city was put in force last night. Embargo Halts Record Flow Of Wheat Into Kansas City

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— An embargo on wheat shipments into Kansas City, effective at 11:59 (CST) last night, was announced yesterday by Ralph E. Clark, manager of boxcar distribution for the Association of American Railroads.

The action was taken as the tide of the grain from the southwest glutted the terminals here with record breaking arrivals. For the second straight day receipts Friday set an all-time record—1,986 cars.

Clark made the announcement at a meeting of the joint terminal grain committee of the Kansas City board of trade.

He said cars loaded Friday or reconsigned to Kansas City will be allowed to come in. No cars, he said, could be consigned into Kansas City after the deadline last night.

U. N. Called 'Wasteful'

Senate Group Urges Thrift

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)—A Senate subcommittee today charged the United Nations and its subsidiary organizations with "wasteful duplication" at the expense of U.S. taxpayers.

The charge highlighted a report stating that membership in 46 international organizations cost the United States $109,616,644 during the year ended June 30.

This was the "lion's share" of the total expenses of the organizations because member countries contributed largely on the basis of the capacity to pay.

The subcommittee recognized that the United States would have to continue to bear the biggest part of the costs until other countries get back on their feet. But in the meantime it felt that "every effort must be made by these organizations to make the most efficient use possible of the funds at their disposal."

The report also termed the special money allowances given United Nations employes as "excessive in some instances and unwarranted in others."

The subcommittee said that "considerable duplication" in professional and administrative services apparently resulted from each of the U.N. subsidary organizations operating as an independent agency.

Excellent grain yields are forecast for Italy due to good weather and Italy's fats and oils rationing was ended by favorable pasturing conditions.

'Comstock' Story Told By Author

Exciting Mining Tale Comes to Library

THE BIG BONANZA, by William Wright, an exciting story of the fabulous Comstock lode, is among the new summer books available Monday at the Mansfield Public library.

The books tells of the rise of Virginia City, of the mines that made it and of that frontier life which has long since passed. The author, a friend of Mark Twain, went to Nevada when the Comstock lode was discovered and, failing as a miner, became a journalist in Virginia City, where he lived for nearly 40 years. His BIG BONANZA, first published in 1876 is republished now as the first volume in a series of new editions of Western Americana.

Pastor Conducts Child Story Hour

By NITA BRANSON

Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, may hold a solution to the religious education problem in Mansfield.

Although Rev. Madden had no such thought in mind when he began telling stories each Saturday morning to the children in the neighborhood of his home, 379 Sherman place, he admitted that it might be one way of providing something interesting and instructive for the smaller boys and girls.

Rev. Madden began his informal story-telling program because he likes youngsters.

"I've noticed little suggestions of prejudice and intolerance among children that I thought might be lessened through the right kind of stories," he said. "The experiment is entirely non-sectarian. Most of the stories I tell have a good, sane moral element but not denominational factor."

Some of the stories are old favorites embellished to make them modern and carry a strong moral value. Others are out of the fertile, imaginative mind of the Mansfield minister, who confessed that he has told such stories to his daughter, Thelma, over a period of years. He added that he had often thought of writing books containing all the stories he has told his 12-year-old daughter and his small son, Matthew jr.

LIKE 'ROSIE' STORIES

"The children, who range from about six to 12 seem to particularly like the stories about Rosie and ask for them over and over again," he related. "Rosie is a mechanical woman, based somewhat on the old Gingerbread stories, who goes around the community doing good."

Although Rev. Madden has been carrying on his story project for only a month, he has already noticed an increased friendliness among his neighbors.

"We all tend, I think, to lead exclusive lives. Now we neighbors have something of mutual interest to talk about," he said.

What do the mothers of the neighborhood think about the project? Well, Mrs. W. B. Wert, 387 Sherman place, says that the stories have made a deep impression on her three children.

"The other day my seven-year-old came home and said it doesn't matter whether we do big things for others that sometimes the little things count just as much. He'd got that idea from one of Rev. Madden's stories.

"I think the boys particularly like the stories because a man tells them," she added. Other mothers agreed.

Rev Madden thinks perhaps a neighborhood project patterned somewhat after his Saturday story-telling hour might be repeated in many sections of the city.

The religious education program in the city's schools was discontinued several months ago after the Supreme court held that public schools could not be used for religious projects.

170,000 Checks Mailed In State

Mansfield area veterans of World War II are receiving their Ohio bonus checks at an ever increasing speed.

Approximately 400 Mansfield World War II veterans' checks have been delivered through the Mansfield postal department, Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, announced today.

Original documents have been returned to more than 610,000 veterans after they were given a claim number, stamped World War Compensation Fund applied for, photocopied and double-checked against the application form. The total figure includes some 15,900 claims submitted by next of kin of deceased veterans.

Chester W. Goble, director of the World War II Compensation fund, said that every effort was being made to increase the daily check production even higher than the 5,000 figure reached recently.

Firms Make 92,000 Cars In 4 Days

New Output Record Anticipated Soon

By DAVID J. WILKIE
(Associated Press Automotive Editor)

DETROIT—(AP)—The car industry worked only four days this week but it turned out a substantial volume of vehicles.

Probably because all the factories were in production total United States output for the week was more than 92,000 units. This compares with last week's 108,000, achieved with most factories operating five days.

Unless steel receipts at the factories drop off again next week's output easily could set a new postwar mark. Highest weekly output so far since peacetime production was resumed three years ago was 116,786 cars and trucks assembled during the week ended Feb. 28.

Chevrolet, heaviest of the industry's producers, this week turned out its 400,000th passenger car of the current year. Chevrolet's truck output so far this year is well over the 200,000 mark.

Barring some interruption to assembly line operations, next week will see Kaiser-Frazer roll out its 100,000th car of the year. That would bring K-F's total production since assemblies began in mid-1946 to 256,250 cars.

Kaiser-Frazer has a good chance of reaching a 200,000 unit total for the full year, although it may lose a little production later this year when it brings out new models. It is fairly well established now that the new K-F models will include a hard top convertible.

Another of the newer models soon to appear is the Willys-Overland "Jeepster" or sports phaeton. Willys already has produced several hundred of the new vehicles.

PRODUCTION UP

In common with most of the other so-called "independents" in the car industry, Willys is well ahead of its 1947 production level. In the first six months of this year it assembled more than 76,000 vehicles. This is about 26 per cent above its output during the same period of last year.

Packard, which has been picking up momentum during recent weeks, also is far ahead of its 1947 production. In this year's first half it turned out more than 46,000 cars compared to 24,472 in the like period of last year.

Ford's change-over to a completely new Ford model cost heavily in production as well as in retooling. It has been announced that re-tooling cost more than $37,000,000. The production loss apparently went above the 100,000 unit mark. During this year's first half Ford built about 186,000 Ford cars, compared with 294,000 in the same period of 1947.

Most industry sources expect the present shortage of new automobiles to continue well into 1950. They are confident of high volume output during the remainder of this year, but not very optimistic regarding next year.

Steel, they say, will continue to be a major problem for many months. Looking beyond this year's operations, some car makers say they will not be surprised if a rigid steel allocation is imposed after the November election.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JULY 10, 1948

Drive carefully tomorrow—even a small accident mars what starts out to be a "pleasure trip."

It is noted that, after a chat with President Truman a few days ago, Frank J. Lausche, former Ohio governor and again Democratic nominee for that office, predicted the nomination and election of Truman—which, under the circumstances, seems to have been quite the diplomatic thing to say.

Eisenhower Says It Again and Again

EVEN the most bitter of anti-Truman Democrats must be convinced by now that Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was in earnest when he said, last January, that he would not be a candidate for high political office.

He has said the same thing several times since, with effort to be courteous about it, but yesterday he put it bluntly: "I would refuse to accept the nomination"—and that's that.

What now? There is at least the possibility that anti-Truman forces will turn belated attention to William O. Douglas, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, but it seems unlikely that this distinguished gentleman will consent to be injected into the political mess that has been created.

Best bet continues to be that President Truman will be nominated on the first ballot along about Thursday of next week, during a convention session from which Philadelphia's spirit of "brotherly love" will be noticeably absent.

Suppose Bomb Had Killed Someone

ONLY by extreme good fortune did that bomb explosion in the rear of a South Park street cafe last Monday morning fall short of being MURDER!

Two Mansfield patrolmen and two firemen, who were on the scene when the dynamite exploded, luckily escaped with their lives, although all suffered injuries.

Had one or more of them been killed—as might have easily been the case—it can scarcely be doubted that long before now there would have been action by the county commissioners in offering a reward for information leading to arrest and conviction of the guilty party—or parties.

Also before now, in all probability, efforts of local police to uncover and run down clues would be supplemented by some outside help in solving the mystery of who placed the bomb, and WHY!

Whether a mistake was made in placing the bomb at that particular door; whether it was done by a local or an imported criminal; whether or not the crime hooked up with gambling interests, and whether it was the work of an amateur or professional—those things are relatively unimportant in contrast to the central idea that until the perpetrator of this outrage has been captured and locked up there can be no assurance against repetition of such vicious acts—and no guarantee that the next one would not kill somebody.

Ashland County Grand Jury Acts

POSSIBLY influenced by Mansfield's recent flop in enforcing the law against commercialized gambling, and hoping to do a better job, neighboring Ashland county seems to have embarked on a similar endeavor, with the difference, however, that a grand jury indictment was resorted to over there.

Thus far the Ashland county activities appear to be directed toward one particular spot, outside the city of Ashland—a club at which, it is alleged, "big time" gambling was in operation, with patronage attracted from surrounding counties and even as far as the Cleveland area.

Ashland county—like Richland—prides itself on being made up largely of law-abiding citizens, and naturally objects to official tolerance of open violations of law. It may be hoped that none of the gambling places forced out of Ashland county will look in this direction for an opening—as there seems to be an understanding that the administration frowns on outsiders who attempt to muscle in here.

About Writing To Your Congressman

THOSE who disapprove of the laws being enacted by their duly elected representatives in Washington are often advised to write to the lawmakers informing them of their attitude. Protest usually takes the form of a telegram or a postcard containing a few general statements. In many cases, groups of people send in cards with the same wording, the result being a miniature avalanche of mail which means little to the congressman.

Senator Raymond E. Baldwin, writing in the magazine Freedom and Union, states that "effective letters are those which are individual expressions of opinion; the less formal, the less dogmatic, the less stereotyped, the better. An individual writing to his representative should describe fully and completely what would happen in his personal case if rent controls were relaxed, so that I can get a clear and useful picture of the problems involved."

Senators and representatives realize that they are in Washington to serve the interests of the people. They are glad to know from the people themselves how to do that. They are right in discounting any but direct sincere, concrete expressions of opinion.

Bumper Wheat Crop In Russia

THE OFFICIAL Soviet news agency announces that the Russian wheat harvest is far ahead of last year's with all areas reporting bumper crops. From 5,000,000 acres in rural districts grain is said to be pouring into government collection and delivery centers.

This is good news for the rest of the world. Russia, herself hard pressed for food a year or so ago, this year may be able to help feed Europe.

It appears that Bob Lemon, the Cleveland pitcher, occasionally makes a long hit, which has come to be mentioned as "the citrus belt."

And just to think, within another month those August fur sales will be coming along!

Here's Another Dark Horse That May Cause Trouble.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Vigorous Campaign Planned By Dewey

WITH characteristic vigor, Candidate Dewey has attacked the first and probably the biggest problem of his campaign. After consultation with John Foster Dulles, 1944 liaison with Roosevelt's state department, Dewey has announced what parts of foreign policy he proposes to debate with his opponent and what parts he regards as ruled out by the bipartisan policy.

The ERP in principle, he says, will not be subject to attack since it conforms generally to the views he and other Republican leaders had expressed before it was announced.

The United Nations and our part in it are also out as an issue, since Dulles has been active in it and Warren Austin, a Republican, is American member of the Security Council.

That leaves plenty of room to attack Truman on other phases of foreign policy in which there was no real collaboration.

Ticklish questions are always raised when foreign policy is an issue in a presidential campaign. There is the old saw about politics stopping at the water's edge. And in this instance there is the question of how much joint responsibility has been created by the bipartisan policy.

Two phases of limited collaboration will probably face Dewey and Truman. The first is the four months of campaigning before the election. The second is the eleven weeks between election and inauguration, if Dewey is elected.

* * *

Debate Can Be Helpful.

IN THE latter period, much will depend upon the state of our relations with Russia at that time. Presumably, Truman will, if defeated, offer Dewey every means of acquainting himself with what is going on in the state department.

Hoover offered that sort of aid to F. D. R. in 1932-33, with rather indifferent results due to the reluctance of the president-elect to give any real help in return.

But it would be a great misfortune if, in the campaign now opening, foreign policy does not get a complete airing. What is going on in our affairs abroad has a profound relationship to domestic policies.

The billions going into ERP have a direct influence on the budget, on prices and on supplies of essential materials. That is also true of the money spent on armaments.

Dewey should, moreover, be free to attack any effort by his opponents to over-stress a war scare for the purpose of suggesting that horses should not be changed, etc.

It is already clear that the administration will seek to promote the fear of inflation for the purpose of blaming Republicans in Congress for failing to enact Truman's 1947 program. Since promoting the fear of inflation is a cause of real inflation, that would be playing politics with the national welfare and it should be so characterized by Dewey and other speakers.

In carrying on a vigorous attack on the Democratic conduct of foreign affairs, Dewey and Warren will be in a better position than almost any other candidates who could have been chosen.

Vandenberg would have been hampered by his record in the Senate and by the fact that he is still chairman of the foreign relations committee. To a much lesser degree, Taft would have been limited, although he might have done better than Dewey in debating domestic policy.

The country can well profit by a real debate on what has been going on in our foreign relations.

Viewing the National Scene

Democrats Lack Youth

By THOMAS L. STOKES

PHILADELPHIA — Aside from other troubles and weaknesses recently exposed so glaringly, the Democratic party which is gathering for its national convention here suffers also from a dearth of new political talent with fresh ideas.

At the top, in places of leadership, are the old and familiar faces, too reminiscent of an era identified with depression, reform, war and regimentation which people want to forget. It was wrapped up neatly by Governor Thomas E. Dewey in his 1944 Republican campaign with the phrase "tired old men." None have grown any younger since.

There are young Democrats, there is a lively organization of young Democrats in the party. But they have not yet worked their way to places of enough influence and power, either in the party organization or in Congress.

There is an exception perhaps, to prove the rule in the chairman of the Democratic national committee, Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, who, while not exactly a youngster, can qualify in the younger element by comparison, being forty-four.

The senator, a dapper figure, goes about his ordeal here wearing a gay tie with a donkey on it. But the donkey truly is a symbol of a tired old animal just about ready to be put out to pasture to await a younger and more chipper quadruped.

The senator's round and smooth face, usually cheerful, is now a somber contrast with the bright tie below it. His countenance is solemn these days with the worry of trying to hold together for just one week, without a fearful and nasty explosion, the unruly elements in his party that are at each other's throats, and some even asking for the head of the leader of the party, the President of the United States. If the senator can get through the week he will feel lots better.

* * *

Few To Choose From.

A SIMPLE and obvious illustration of the predominance of the old folks in the Democratic party is that the two men who are to sound the clarion call for this convention and the campaign are grizzled party elders—Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who, for the third time, will make the keynote speech as temporary chairman, and Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, who is to be permanent chairman and will make the rallying address assigned to the role.

Both fought the Roosevelt wars as party leaders, respectively, in Senate and House, Sam Rayburn for a time as speaker. They are worn out with long service in a cause that flamed brightly in that other era but glows only dimly now in a new era.

But the best illustration of the lack of fresh and new figures in the party available for promotion to higher posts is to be found in the very dilemma that faced those who sought to replace Harry Truman, as well as in the other dilemma that plagues party leaders in this convention which is the selection of a running-mate for him as vice-presidential candidate.

When those who wanted a substitute for Harry Truman looked about and canvassed, what did they come up with?

Their first choice was a war hero, General Dwight Eisenhower. They did not even know whether he was a Democrat, or try to find out, and they did not know his stand on leading issues. Republicans, it will be recalled, looked upon him enviously too for awhile. He had never been identified with politics. But Republicans had lots of other talent avilable and took him at his word.

The only other possible candidate turned up as an alternative to the General is a sort of perennial with a group of ex-New Dealers, Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court. Not exactly an appropriate place to pick a candidate for political office.

The General and the Supreme Court were all that were fished up in the search for a candidate against the President. Figures in the party well known to the public were either too old and shopworn or otherwise unavailable for various reasons. Among the younger crowd none had come along far enough to be considered seriously.

The same problem confronts the party in picking a vice-presidential candidate to run with President Truman.

What the Democratic party needs badly is a new crop.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Democrats Gird for Convention Battle

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

IT SEEMED all was over but the shouting when President Truman announced several months ago he would seek the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

The shouting has been going on ever since—shouting of a different kind than the experts bargained for. On the eve of the Democratic national convention which opens Monday in Philadelphia, the shouting reached a crescendo.

First, the Southern "revolt" burgeoned to unexpected and bitter proportions.

Second, the liberals within the said publicly that Mr. Truman is "willing but not able" to carry the New Deal mantle.

Third, the Eisenhower boom, which once haunted Gov. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, camped on the Truman doorstep in spite of all the general, himself, could do.

Fourth, big city machine bosses said publicly that Mr. Truman is not strong enough to lead the party to victory in November.

The General Says 'No.'

The Eisenhower boom made the biggest noise. Despite the General's statement that he could not accept any nomination for public office, there still is no definite assurance that the boom was dead until yesterday, when Eisenhower made his refusal "final and complete" by saying he would refuse to accept the nomination.

Many Democratic leaders, such as Frank Hague of New Jersey and Jacob Arvey of Illinois, went so far out on a limb for Eisenhower it may be difficult, if not impossible, for them to crawl back.

Attending a caucus on convention eve in Philadelphia were 18 men representing 17 states which cast 568 of the 1,234 Democratic presidential nominating votes next week. Some were Eisenhower men. Others wanted Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court. Some southerners wanted "anyone but Truman."

In addition to Hague, Arvey and Carlson, they included such leaders as Mayor O'Dwyer of New York, James Roosevelt of California, Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama, and Governors Tuck of Virginia, Jester of Texas and Thurmond of South Carolina.

At Home

Reds In U. S. Labor.

A nationwide investigation into communists in American labor unions is being made by the House labor committee.

At hearings in Washington, top executives of New York's big department stores—Gimbel's, Macy's, Oppenheim-Collins, Bloomingdale's and others painted a joint picture of communist leadership at work.

One after another they testified that a few alleged communists have seized union control over thousands of white collar workers.

On Wednesday, the committee shifted from Washington to New York to hear 31 union officials, representing both left and right-wing elements of the CIO-United Department Store Employes Union.

The committee also held secret sessions to hear union members who volunteered to tell the "inside story" of what they described as "Red terrorism."

Predicts Another Tax Cut.

Rep. Harold Knutson, author of this year's tax cut bill, says the 1948 budget surplus more than justifies that $4,500,000,000 slash and points the way to another cut next year almost as large.

The chairman of the House ways and means committee, which drafts tax legislation, placed the treasury surplus on June 30 at $8,400,000,000, a new record.

With sufficient economies, Knutson says, he is confident that individual income taxes can be cut by another $4,000,000,000 in 1950 and that excise levies can be reduced as well.

Serve-Self Gasoline.

Self-service gasoline stations are springing up throughout Southern California. Instead of men attendants cute girl cashiers, some on roller skates and dressed in cut-off costumes, take your money after you have filled your own tank.

There is another attractive feature for motorists: prices as much as five cents less per gallon on gas, seven cents a quart on oil.

Borrowed from the supermarket system, the new idea is spreading. Operators claim their products are marketed at one-third the cost of ordinary stations.

Abroad

Palestine War Resumed.

The cards seemed stacked against Count Folke Bernadotte's efforts to bring peace to the Holy Land.

Both Arabs and Jews rejected his proposals for permanent peace in Palestine. The United Nations mediator had suggested turning Jerusalem over to Arab rule, making Haifa a free port and regulating immigration.

Even before the U.N. four-week truce ended Friday, it was reported that both sides had violated the cease-fire. In Jerusalem where Arabs and Jews exchanged mortar and machine-gun fire, the Israeli army entrenched itself for all-out resumption of war.

Pressure On Berlin.

The three western occupation powers this week demanded an end to the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Although the separate notes expressed individual government protests, Washington, London and Paris were in almost hourly communication on steps to be taken if the Kremlin formally rejected them.

As the west continued to supply their Berlin sectors by air, the Russians implied the blockade might be a pressure device to bring about new four-power talks.

The French said they had evidence of Kremlin orders to German Communists to stir up enough trouble to give the Red Army an excuse to occupy all the city.

Quotes

Sen. Francis Myers (D-Pa.): "The preliminary platform group of the Democratic party will not yield to threats in shaping the civil rights plank."

Dr. C. W. de Kiewiet, Cornell university provost: "The proper sign of a free market of ideas is a degree of hubbub and jostling."

In Short

Killed: Over the three-day Fourth of July week-end, 571 in accidents, third worst toll in 20 years.

Died: From an overdose of sleeping pills, film star Carole Landis, 29, in her Brentwood, Calif., home.

Inaugurated: By Britain a compulsory social security and health program, providing unemployment, medical, retirement and death benefits for 48,000,000 English, Scotch and Wales residents.

As Cerf Tells It

A professor at an agricultural school asked a newly enrolled student from West Virginia, "Do farmers in your community have trouble with insects getting in your corn," "You bet," said the new student brightly, "but we drink it anyhow."

Farmer's Diary

Stranger Than Fiction

By CALVIN A. BYERS

CELEBRATED the Fourth by reading Louis Bromfield's latest book about his successful farm in Pleasant Valley, "Malabar Farm," (Harpers $3.75.) This continuation of the Bromfield saga ought to be stimulating to thoughtful farmers, teachers and psychologists — especially those here in Richland county where Louis was born and raised and where his talents as a story-teller first developed.

This book is earnest and well balanced even more genuine, spontaneous, and factual than Pleasant Valley, of which it is a sequel. He tells how his original plan for a self-sufficient farm had to be changed, in order to make a profit. Bromfield buys his potatoes now, becauses it cost too much manpower and machinery to raise them; he buys pigs to follow his cattle because care and feeding of sows was too expensive. No fruit is sold from his orchard, since sprays and equipment were prohibitive.

He specializes in grass farming and blue-roan beef-type cattle, which are a cross between Angus and Shorthorn, not bred for show but for the greatest amount of beef, in the shortest time, under each hide.

The cattle are shipped to New York in carload lots. They are fed on grass silage, baled alfalfa and minerals—housed in loafing sheds where the manure is trampled into straw and sawdust, hauled out every two months.

On the organic-chemical controversy, Mr. Bromfield gleefully carries water on both shoulders. His own garden where food for his community of five farms is produced, uses "no sulphur or arsenic or rotenone or DDT or any other poison contained in the dusts and sprays which are the patent medicines of the plant world." However he advocates the use of great quantities of lime and commercial fertilizers for "kicking wornout fields into production" and, in the interest of business, advises chemical companies to encourage or even stress the need for organic matter in the soil. He has adapted Ed Faulkner's trash farming methods to steep fields of "the thinnest farm between Newville and Little Washington", with phenomenal results.

Bromfield points out two weaknesses of present day agricultural education: 1—Dullness of teachers and technicality of bulletins. 2—Farmers are told to adopt certain practices for better results, without explanation of WHY such methods are desirable.

"What we need," he says "is young men who want to be farmers, rather than young men who, as so often in the past became farmers merely through indifference and lack of gumption."

Dave Boone Says:

IT'S HARD to understand how the politicians ever got the idea Dwight Eisenhower was a double-talker. He never would have qualified for the head of a college if he had thought the way to spell "NO" was "M-A-Y-B-E."

Timely Editorial

It Doesn't Mean Anything.

We wonder that the makers of cigars, cigarets and tobacco pipes have not protested against the slurring references to "smoke-filled rooms" as places where dubious political bargains are contracted. Fact is, convention rooms as thus described have their exact parallel in the committee rooms of Congress. In each case, that's where differences of view are discussed and adjusted—where the thinking, the real work, is done.

This is done, and always has been done, amid the incense of tobacco—the weed of Deliberation. Blame the Indians, if you don't like it, for they started it. The calumet, or Pipe of Peace, was their creation. Its antithesis was the war dance. You get one in the "smoke-filled" committee room, the other in the synthetic tumults and hi-de-hoes of the convention floor.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Truman Best Dems Have to Offer Despite Splitups In His Gang

NEW YORK—No Republican with a soul full of honest malice would object to the draft of General Eisenhower in the Democratic family purge in Philadelphia.

If Eisenhower is the nominee despite his recent "no," this campaign will be an enormous open-air trial on wartime policies and Roosevelt will be defendant-in-chief.

Of course, Mr. Truman would be satisfactory if the only consideration were the election of Dewey and Warren in the fall. He stands foredoomed at the polls, with most of his own gang against him, but there are considerations extending years beyond this presidential election which all shrewd Republicans will have in mind.

Mr. Truman is actually the best the Democrats have. He has a quality about him, a pleasantly sordid character, for which we have no word but shrewd. It is not expressive to describe him as a "native."

The late Roosevelt was a native and yet he was unauthentic, so highly seasoned with accents and affectations that the common man whom he professed to understand so well always had a feeling in his presence as though females were nigh— or foreigners.

Mr. Truman is utterly American in this rude sense of the word, a sense pervaded by barnyard sounds and vapors and by the rude, musical swearing of our common speech.

True, Roosevelt often used the words but in a self-conscious and deliberately dirty way which made them offensive, as though the pampered brat of the idle rich who was father to the man had just heard them from the hostlers' lips and was trying them on his governess.

Nobody who ever knew him would have said he was effeminate, but he was a boy who was never allowed to play with boys, and to the day he died he still smoked his cigarette with a shallow bravado. In some company he tried to be a good fellow, but the fatal trouble was that he had to try.

Truman's foreign policy would have been that of a typical mid-western fellow of his age. That policy, always successful when it was given a chance, was "to hell with foreign countries." They have given us nothing but woe and work and debt and the more we have responded to the cries of the cynical, obstreperous and parasitic French, the more deeply we have involved ourselves in the criminal circle of Europe.

As a common mid-westerner, and a combat veteran of the first world war, Mr. Truman, had it been left to his instincts, would have repudiated Roosevelt as a faker and a double-crosser and pulled out for home and the armies with him when he fell heir to the mess in 1945.

Even by then, however, he had been beaten over the head with the bats of propaganda which have permanently added the reason of almost all Americans.

Moreover, by then, Roosevelt had implicated us so heavily that even the most reckless patriot might have hesitated to turn his back on such treacherous friends.

★

So Mr. Truman found himself consulting experts on many phases of the European, Mediterranean and Asiatic corruption, and found most of them to be motivated partisans. At home, the free press, boastful of its valor in twisting the lion's tail and condemning pollution of the beaches, was throttled, and all the major politicians, too, choked up discussion of the most ominous problem in the world.

Examination of the facts was un-American. So the greatest nation on earth was committed to a course which may be the road to war without reference to the people. An alien promoting a foreign cause had freedom of expression. Americans could not argue.

Hollywood Studio Gives Actress, Aged 102, a Ten-Year Contract

MAN ABOUT TOWN—Warner's just signed a Mexican actress named Felipe Gomez to a 10-year contract on the strength of her playing in "Key Largo." . . . She's 102 years old.

If you look closely while viewing "Fort Apache," you will see a shrivelled, apple-cheeked old lady in the part of Mrs. Gates. She is Mae Marsh—who reached stardom in "The Birth of a Nation" 33 years ago . . . Butler Davenport and his cast of troupers (in the Village) are celebrating their 25th year. No fee to get in—they take after-show collections—the sole support. The playhouse is called The Free Theater. It's on E 27. . . . Variety Editor Green (just back from London) reports you pay Ritz prices for cabins and Child's menus on the best British liners. Service is okay, he adds, but Cunard will have to pay heavily when the French boats sail again . . . Item: "Japan Wants to Sell U. S. Steel Scrap" . . . Would they mind waiting a while—until Loy Henderson finds out if the Arabs need any?

★

Avery Brundage, chairman of the U.S. Olympics Committee, is desperately trying to raise a hurried $200,000. That's what he needs to bring our team over there for the Olympics, and to-date hasn't collected enough to pay the fares! . . . When Earl Carroll built his theater on Broadway he had them work his initials E. C. into the mosaic, the parquetry and everything permanent there . . . Elsa Maxwell's party game was played again. The query was: "If you had only ten minutes to live, and you knew it, how would you spend them?" . . . To which Helen Hayes' husband, Charles MacArthur (a wit) seriously said: "I would call my wife on the phone—and apologize!"

★

Editor Joe Barnes has this nifty definition of a reporter: "Trained to ask questions, and possessor of that conditioned reflex of all good reporters which makes them assume that any smoke is a 3-alarm fire unless proved otherwise" . . . This may help explain why radio's standards are so low: Two of the best men developed in radio are no longer employed by it. Ooler and Corwin . . . If you read the dailies slowly, you may notice their top staffers now work on stories they only recently left to the "hysterical alarmists."

★

John Barrymore was involved in many whacky episodes but he didn't kid himself. To a chum who chided him for his behavior he said: "The only one who ever made a fool out of me—was me!" . . . Mary Margaret McBride has a way with words. She advised one of Dewey's cabinet: "When you read a speech you say what may have taken months to write. But when you ad lib you speak from your heart what it has taken years to live" . . . Odd Coincidences: Since Gov. Warren left California he visited the State of Pennsylvania, the Pennsylvania Station in New York and the Hotel Pennsylvania. Next stop: Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington? . . . Zanuck would toss this out of any cops-and-robbers script (unbelievable, he'd argue) but it happened the other 3 ayem in New York. Two stickups got away with two small safes from the Cadillac branch on York Ave., and while the gendarmes searched the city for them—one returned to the scene to retrieve a revolver he left behind! And got away again.

Hughes Honored For Long Service

By NITA BRANSON

The man who has done more than anyone else, in terms of service, to promote the success of the Richland Trust company, was singled out for special recognition at the bank's 50th anniversary dinner last night.

He is Charles H. Hughes, president, whose tenure with the bank will reach the 50-year mark next September. As the oldest official in years of service, Hughes cut the big gold and white anniversary cake at a dinner at the Westbrook Country club.

C. N. Sutton, executive vice president, acting as master of ceremonies, also gave special recognition to C. F. Fighter, who has been with the bank 40 years.

Fifty-seven officials, employes and their wives and guests shared in the anniversary commemoration and heard Dr. Tennyson Guyer, noted Ohio pastor and speaker, talk on "The ABC's of America."

"We're the clumsiest salesmen in the world in selling the American way of life," Dr. Guyer said.

"Until we Americans know the facts of the world as they are today, face our problems as they really are, giving impartial decisions on those problems and defend to the death those decisions once you know you're right, we'll not sell America as we should. These things are just as valuable now as they ever were."

He gave six attributes which every good banker should possess.

"First, I would say adjustability," Dr. Guyer declared. "If you don't adjust yourself to changing conditions in the world today, you're lost. I believe in the evolution of events; you can't repeal the law of change. You have to learn to accept that law and adjust yourself and your job to that change.

"I'd place bravery in second place. The mothers who smiled when their sons went away to war and wept when they returned are, in my opinion, the essence of that bravery of soul which every good American should have."

He stressed cheerfulness and determination to get things done once you're convinced they're right as of equal importance.

"You'll always find groups who say things can't be done, but there are still places where men can have vision and put it to work. Bring your personal faith to your job, but leave the ritual at home. Bring liberty and freedom to your job but leave the politics on the shelf."

Enthusiasm and faith were the final two characteristics which a banker as well as every American who has a job must take to his work to make it a successful one, Dr. Guyer declared.

"You must have a great capacity for life. Believe in salesmanship, act like you enjoyed being there. There must be a common bond of understanding between you and your customer. There are two things that speak doom to your life and the American way of living—running up stairs and running down people. Make America strong by being ambassadors of good will.

"And finally, you must have faith in your institution. Faith is the bulwark and backbone of what you believe. There is no reason why you should not all be a united people with a unified mind. There is something wrong about people who aren't gregarious and who don't want to get along with their fellowmen."

Today, officials and employes of the bank and their wives are receiving the public at open house until 9 p. m. tonight.

Patrolman R. G. Hildebrand had to use the techniques of a "second story man" today in the performance of his duties. Mrs. Hermine Spamer, 630 Forest Hill road, was working in her garden this morning and when she tried to get back in her house, she found the door had slammed shut and locked. She called police, and Hildebrand, using a technique often employed by burglars, opened the storm door.

TOO MUCH COMPETITION—

The otherwise steady turning of the wheels of justice were stopped this morning by the power of a woman's voice. While municipal court was in session, two women who were standing outside the courtroom on the sidewalk in front of the city building were engaged in a heated discussion. Their loud talk carried into the court room, and after putting up with the chatter for 10 minutes, the bailiff was ordered by Acting Judge James V. Will, to go outside and tone the argument down. Justice triumphed.

Hit In Face With Bottle

An episode in a Bowman street cafe last night resulted in severe lacerations to the face of Thomas J. Dotterman, 31, of Warren road.

Thirty stitches were required to close four wounds sustained when he was struck by a beer bottle by an unidentified assailant. Dotterman, a steel worker, was treated at General hospital following the fraces.

Dotterman told sheriff's deputies he and his wife, Repha, 23, entered Sam's News company at 863 Bowman street at 11:20 p. m., and were seated at a table waiting for their supper to be served when an unidentified man sat down at their table to drink a bottle of beer. When Dotterman objected, the intruder hit him in the face with the full bottle, Dotterman told officers. No charges were filed.

Youth Held In Attack

A 17-year-old Michigan youth today awaited hearing in juvenile court as the result of an altercation last night in the washroom of the Cork and Bottle cafe, North Main street.

Benjamin Van Zile, of 212 Washington avenue, said the youth pulled a knife from inside of his shoe and took a slash at him as the argument developed. Two friends of the youth, also armed with knives, threatened him, Van Zile reported to police.

The youth was later arrested at the Top Hat cafe and police said he was carrying a red, bone-handled knife with a snap-open blade concealed in his left shoe. He was turned over to juvenile authorities.

'Chew Gum to Help Kiddies' Project Nets Club $108.19

Mansfielders chewed 54,095 pieces of gum in June just to help the kiddies.

The gum-chewing spree was part of a project of the Mansfield Kiwanis club to help underprivileged children through funds received from sale of ball gum. The project began April 23.

Tabulation of sales for June, the first full month that all the 236 machines have been in operation, showed gross sales of $540.95 and a net profit of $108.19. Profits will go to finance the club's child welfare program.

The machines were placed in factories, stores and restaurants throughout the city. Willis Carto, project chairman, said one machine alone brought a profit of $2.10.

"I am delighted with the splendid cooperation of Mansfielders in this venture," he commented.

On the other side of the ledger, however. Carto reported two of the machines were stolen and 75 valueless slugs were found in one machine.

He pointed out that such action bit heavily into the profits made by the club and therefore into the extent of help which could be given to the childrens' program.

Plans for this summer include sending six or eight children each week from the Richland county Children's home to Hidden Hollow camp for one-week periods. Friendly House is another program supported by the gum machines.

Captains in charge of placing the machines throughout Mansfield are W. J. Toole, Otho McCormick, Allen Knapp, Russell Alger, Harold Balyeat, Harry Sowash, Carlton Fernyak, Richard Stander, Nick White and Max Worthley.

Retired Rail Workers' Fund Upped

Approximately 216,000 retired railroad employes, including a number in the Mansfield area will have their annuities or pensions increased under a recent law which amends both the Railroad Retirement and Railroad Unemployment Insurance acts. With a few minor exceptions, the increases will be a flat 20 per cent. Nearly 7,000,000 other railroad employes will benefit by the increase when they become eligible to retire.

The average annuity will increase from $70 to $84 a month, and the average pension from $59 to $71. The maximum retirement benefit will be $144 a month. Retirement taxes paid by both employes and employers remain the same.

The new law also raises by 20 per cent monthly payments made to some 4,300 widows of deceased workers who took a reduction in their own annuities to assure a monthly income for their widows. Survivor annuities which became payable under the 1946 amendments remain unchanged.

The first checks for the new amounts will be issued on Aug. 1. However, those who do not receive their August payments on time are asked to wait at least 10 days before writing to the Railroad Retirement board.

Indians Lead Shrinks as Browns Win, 5 to 3

Sports Chatter

By Fritz Howell

(Ohio (AP) Sports Editor.)

COLUMBUS—Just how much does a guy have to win in a year to break even on golfdom's professional tour?

Well, lets let Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., tell about it. Ed, as most folk know, is one of the phenoms of the play-for-pay brigade, having overcome a childhood accident which left his arm shrunken and rigid.

Furgol is 29 years old, and turned professional in 1944 after a fine career as an amateur. He has no club affiliation, being strictly a tournament tourist. He's married, and Mrs. Furgol is always on the tour with him.

Back in 1946 Ed won $4,821.66 to win up 25th in the country. In 1947 he climbed to eighth place with $14,168.10. Right now, with the season about half over, he's in 16th place with $4,576.98—but he hopes to boost that figure in the $10,000 Columbus open which started yesterday.

★

ANYWAY, ED has won $23,466.74 in the last two and one-half years, a pretty fair figure to a 29-year-old with a crippled arm firing against the best professionals the country has to offer.

Furgol takes in the complete tour, one of the few stars who makes all the stops. Last year he and Lew Worsham were the only ones to play 104 rounds of tournament golf, and Ed outscored the 1947 national open king by 40 strokes as he averaged 70.67 shots per round.

This year Ed has played 67 rounds for an average of 71.78, and only Lloyd Mangrum, the 1946 national open king has been in more tournaments. Mangrum has played 71 rounds.

★

SO WHEN ED talks about how much you have to earn to break even on the golf tour, he knows whereof he speaks.

And Ed says: "If you want to get back home with a dime in your pocket, you have to win more than $8,000 a year. That's the absolute minimum, and maybe $9,000 is closer to what you'll spend."

Furgol, counting on his fingers for emphasis, listed some to the more hefty expenditures involved in chasing that white pill all over the country.

Travel: Automobile at around $2,500; gas and oil for average of 650 miles driving per week; occasional travel by plane for self while wife drives car between almost overlapping tournaments; parking nightly in garages; insurance.

Housing: Minimum of $8 per day for hotel, and $16 per day for meals for two.

Tournament costs: $1 entry fee for each $1,000 purse offered; $5 per round minimum for caddy; 18 balls per 72-hole tournament; slacks, shirts, shoes, socks, caps (Ed said shoes alone cost around $300 per year) clubs and bag; fee to locker room boy etc.

Incidentals: Recreation about $10 per week; cleaning and laundry runs pretty high and generally is in the town you just left behind; telegraph and telephone tolls.

IN HIS FOUR years as a professional Ed has visited the west coast seven times and Florida 12 times. He averages about two days of travel per week. Last year for each stroke he took in tournament play, he earned $1.93, but this season he's down to 95 cents per shot.

"I'm not doing too well this year," Ed said, "but it's nice work if you don't see that dollar sign on every putt. And there's always the chance one of those $2,000 first prize lightnings will hit you all at once."

Incidentally, about that $9,000 figure Furgol said you had to hit to break even for a year's divot digging; only 13 professionals reached it in 1947, and 14 in 1946.

Shelby Blues Beat Willard

SHELBY—Herb Hart scattered three Willard hits to pitch the Shelby Blues to a 3-0 victory over Willard on the high school diamond here yesterday.

Hart also drove out a single and double in three trips to lead the Shelby attack. The Blues scored twice in the third inning on Don Zeiter's single with the bases loaded.

First Triple Winner

CLEVELAND — (NS) — Little Bobby Camp rang up the first triple of the season yesterday at suburban North Randall park. Bottin' Bobby, a 29-year-old racing veteran, booted home Creepin in the first, Lutie Bolo in the third and Joey B in the Sixth.

Philadelphia Picks Up 1 Full Game

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The American league lead went back on a percentage point basis again today—with Cleveland and Philadelphia still the principals in the closest tieup since Damon and Pythias.

Bob Lemon failed to put the "squeeze" on the St. Louis Browns last night at the Cleveland stadium, and the A's, in the meantime, did all right in whipping Boston 8-6.

That Cleveland loss coupled with the Philadelphia win wiped out the Tribe's one-game margin and left the front-running Indians just 10 percentage points to the good.

A'S COULD LEAD

The A's have a chance to go into the lead today when they entertain the Bosox again while Cleveland has an off day. A victory for the A's would oust Cleveland from first.

Cleveland's 5-3 loss last night to St. Louis was notable only in that Leroy "Satchel" Paige got his first chance to display his wares as an Indian hurler.

Ol' Satch, a rookie of some 40 years, became the first Negro ever to pitch in the American league when he relieved Lemon in the fifth after St. Louis had piled up a 4-1 lead.

The gangling Paige proved his worth by settling down the Browns without a run in his two-inning stint, although he did allow a pair of one-base bingles.

The Tribe outhit the Browns, 12-9, but St. Louis bunched its hits to take an early lead.

WILDNESS HURTS

Lemon gave up three runs in the first inning, due partly to his wildness.

Cleveland got one back in its half of the first on a single by Dale Mitchell, an infield out, and Lou Boudreau's one-bagger.

Lemon gave up a home run to the opposing hurler, Fred Sanford, in the second inning to account for St. Louis' fourth tally. The Browns scored once more in the seventh, as did Cleveland, but by that time the contest already had been decided.

Stirtzinger Fires Par 34 At Coolridge

Although shooting in a No. 2 position, Steve Stirtzinger fired an even-par 34 last night to highlight competition in the Coolridge club golf league.

Pete Zimmerman and Nick Loris came in with 36's while Pro Joe Mayer and Jim Musille each posted a 37. Tied at 38 were Ray and Vin Malaska.

Advanced Rose Bowl Money Helps Olympics

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A $1,500 contribution to the American Olympic fund was made today by the Pacific Coast conference, the Big Nine and the Tournament of Roses association of Pasadena.

The sum will be advanced by the coast conference. It will be reimbursed from the gross receipts of the Rose bowl football game next New Year's day.

Gorman-Rupp 'Lucks' Win Over Tiffin Packers, 3-1

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp made its hits count last night in beating the Tiffin Routh Packers, 3 to 1, under the G-R lights.

In winning victory No. 2 in the second round of North Central Inter-City league softball play the Mansfield club was outhit 4 to 3. Wayne Hough's fourth inning home run provided Gorman-Rupp with the winning margin.

Jim "Stretch" Regula did not permit a Tiffin tally to cross the plate after the initial frame. However, he walked one and hit three batsmen to keep in hot water through most of the contest. The younger member of the Regula pitching family struck out 10 while Demboski, the Packer hurlers fanned 12 and didn't issue a pass.

The young Packers had been the doormat of the league in the first round but pushed Mansfield to the limit. Both teams scored single tallies in the first while Gorman-Rupp won with runs in the fourth and fifth.

Fielding star of the contest was Kenny Windsor, the second sacker.

Gorman-Rupp, first round champion, has won seven of its last eight games and has a seasonal record of 16 wins, four defeats and one tie.

NOT MUCH CATCH—The Brooklyn Dodgers have won seven of their last eight games and these three fellows have been in the thick of things. You wouldn't know it but all three are catchers. Left to right, Gil Hodges, Roy Campanella and Bruce Edwards. Hodges has been playing first base and Edwards, third. Campanella has been catching most of the games, but he's also a fielder.

Mansfield Grays Surprise Louisville Cannibals, 9-3

Playing with a patchwork lineup, the Mansfield Grays surprised with an easy victory over the Louisville Zulu Cannibal Giants at the Blue Goose baseball field yesterday, 9 to 3.

Two regulars were unable to play but substitutes Jack Hammett and Manager Lefty Deeds contributed four of the 13 Grays' safeties. Hammett had two doubles and a single while Deeds clouted a home run with two men on in the fourth inning. Hammett drove in three tallies.

Don Hardy and Bill Watchorn split the Mansfield mound duties and allowed only seven hits in the game which was halted in the eighth because of darkness. Hardy elbowed the first seven frames and struck out 10 while walking only one.

The Giants threatened only once. Mansfield notched a three run lead in the second chukker but Louisville cut the margin to one-run with a pair of tallies in the third. However, the Grays came back with two counters in the third and four in the fourth to salt away the game.

Shelley Swank, Hardy and Dubby Lockhart each had a pair of blows for the winners.

Young Swim Aces Feature Olympic Tests At Detroit

DETROIT —(AP)— If American chances in swimming and diving at the 1948 Olympic games hinge on the rise of new boy and girl wonders, a pair of 17-year-old stars stood ready today to fill the bill.

They are slender Jimmy McLane, Akron, Ohio, free style swimming sensation now attending Andover Academy—and heading for Yale—and Zoe Ann Olsen, Oakland, Calif., springboard diver who is a senior in high school. Pool-side galleries were abuzz with their achievements as the final American Olympic tank trials went into the third and semi-final day.

McLane outsped Hawaiian Bill Smith, veteran Ohio State university free-styler, for a three-length triumph in the 400-meter event yesterday.

Miss Olsen topped the 3-meter feminine diving events.

McLane's time in the 400 was four minutes 45.6 seconds, barely a second above Jack Medica's Olympic record.

Ohio State's trim twins of the springboard, Bruce Harlan and Miller Anderson, finished 1-2 at the top of the men's 3-meter event.

Siler-Anderson Top Pin League

R. Siler and B. Anderson took honors in the Mixed Doubles bowling league at Richland Recreation last night with a 981 total composed of series of 525 and 456. R. Siler led the women with scores of 190-191-141 for a 525 series.

High series was a 168-167-217 turned in by J. Rhoads. W. Cleckner had the best single game effort, a 231.

Herman Colts Win In Major League, 8-2

With Robbie Kanz and Dick Ernsberger combining for a three-hitter, the Sons of Herman Colts defeated Knights of Columbus, 8 to 2, last night at Liberty park.

The other Hot Stove Major league game between Ohio Sport Center and Zitzer's was postponed when the Mansfield Grays changed bookings of the Zula Cannibal Giants.

Sent away to a three run lead in the first innings, the Colts were never headed. Bill Miller led the Herman batters with two singles and a triple.

Moose lodge pushed across one run in the last of the sixth to edge Elks lodge, 6 to 5, and Carpenter Busses out-slugged Mitsch's Corner Store, 12 to 4, in the Junior league. Tom Hansberger led the Elks' 10-hit attack with three singles and a double.

In the Elementary league, Rebecca Grubaugh won over Carpenter, 7 to 6; St. Peter's swamped West Fifth, 19 to 8 and Prospect handed Newman its first defeat. Larry Zartman of Prospect won his seventh game, allowing seven hits. He struck out 13 and had a homer and double.

Phillips Quintet Raps Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (INS)—The Phillips Oilers still top the field in U. S. amateur basketball circles.

The Bartlesville, Okla., five, which defeated the University of Kentucky in this spring's olympic tryout finals, repeated last night with a 56-to-50 victory over the Wildcats at Lexington.

The Oilers won the first contest, 60 to 52, at Tulsa, Okla., but lost the second at Kansas City, 70 to 69, in two overtime periods.

Alexander's Fine 64 Tops Columbus Golf

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Stewart (Skip) Alexander, broad-shouldered, bespectacled 29-year-old ex-army captain from Lexington, N. C., is a double-barrelled news item this week end.

Down in Knoxville, Tenn., tomorrow's papers will announce his approaching marriage (October) to Miss Kathleen Ann Reade. Today's papers are announcing that the former Duke golf captain, who turned pro a couple of years ago after a long army career, is the No. 1 man in the race for the third annual Columbus open golf title.

Skip, sinking putts from everywhere, rattled off seven birdies and 11 pars for a 32-32—64 in yesterday's opening round to take a two-stroke edge over a field of 100. There are another 18 holes today, and 36 tomorrow, but that $2,000 top prize is important to a guy contemplating matrimony and Alexander may stay right out front the rest of the way.

TWO OFF PACE

Lloyd Mangrum, the 1946 national open king from Chicago, and George Schoux, the 29-year-old star from Mamaroneck, N. Y., each clipped par by five strokes with neat 66's, but were two strokes off the pace.

The 100 starters—two withdrew as their scores soared—almost wrecked the winding, tree-filled course with 283 birdies and 11 eagles as 20 finished under par 71 and 10 others matched even figures.

The under-par shooters included: 67—Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis and Airline pilot Johnny Bulla of Phoenix, Ariz.; 68—Ellsworth Vines, former tennis champ from Iowa City, Ia., husky Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., and Freddie Haas, former national collegiate king from New Orleans; 69— defending champion Bobby Locke of South Africa, Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kan., Steve Doctor of Buffalo, N. Y., Gib Sellers of Hot Springs, Ark.; Eric Monti of Santa Monica, Calif., and Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C.

C. W. Mulcahy of Brookline, Mass., and Eddie Meister of Cleveland led the amateur contingent with par 71's. Frankie Stranahan of Toledo, the British and Canadian champion, was well up with 73.

Amazing Athletics Refusing to Fold; Yankees Pick Up Ground With 4-0 Win

By JACK HAND
(AP Sports Writer)

Half way through the pennant race, the amazing Philadelphia Athletics continue to dog the footsteps of the front-running Cleveland Indians.

Instead of folding their pennant ambitions and setting for an expected comfortable berth on the fringe of the first division, Connie Mack's underrated A's insist on eyeing that world series cash. Every day it becomes tougher to say they're wrong.

Once against the Cleveland tribe has to line up a friendly array of percentage points to protect its shrinking American league lead. The A's have won three more than the Indians but they've also lost three more. Consequently they remain 10 points back with exactly half of the 154-game schedule still ahead.

WIN HARD WAY

They did it the hrd way last night, coming from behind twice to outlast the slugging Boston Red Sox 8-7.

Long before this final result had been posted, the A's knew that Cleveland had been thumped by St. Louis, 5-3, a seventh loss for Bob Lemon who has won 12 games.

New York also moved up on the Tribe by a 9-0 romp over Washington as Eddie Lopat tossed a four-hit shutout.

Detroit copped its fifth in a row, downing Chicago, 4-2. Freddie Hutchinson earned his fifth win with a six-hit effort, losing a shut-out in the ninth when Aaron Robinson homered with one on.

Shortly after learning that second baseman Eddie Stanky would be out of action with a broken right ankle until mid-September, the Boston Braves overwhelmed Philadelphia, 13-2. Aided by this 14-hit assault, Johnny Sain became the first National leaguer to cop 11 games.

Barney Ewell Nips Patton In 100 Meter

EVANSTON, Ill. — (AP) — Oldtimer Barney Ewell, showing his heels to youngsters like Pell Mel Patton to win the 100 meter dash, goes after a sweep in the sprints today in the 200 meter feature of the qualifying windup of the American Olympic track tryouts.

The 31-year-old Ewell's triumph over heavily-favored Patton topped the first round of the trials last night. He whizzed through the 100 meters in 10.2 seconds to match the world record set by Jesse Owens of Ohio State in 1936 and equalled by Hal Davis of Southern California in 1941.

GETS SLOW START

Patton got off to a slow start and never caught up. The Southern California streak inched out Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace for second.

Half of the team now has been determined. Ewell, Patton and Dillard gained a place by their 1-2-3 finish in the 100-meters.

Other team members selected last night included Dwight Eddleman, Illinois, in the high jump.

Almost rivalling the expected Ewell-Patton duel in the 200 will be Dillard's go against Northwestern's Bill Porter in the 110 meter high hurdles. Porter won the A.A.U. highs last week at Milwaukee, handing Dillard his first defeat in the highs since 1946.

ices at South park tomorrow. The speaker will be Rev. V. C. Stamets of the First Evangelical UB church.

The service will be conducted by Rev. Stamets and members of his congregation. The choir will present "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes," by Stultz, under the direction of Lawrence Chamberlain.

As an offertory number, Mrs. E. C. Crider, Mrs. William Freund and Miss Naomi Johnson will sing "Fairest Lord Jesus." Hymns which Rev. Stamets has selected will include "Day Is Dying in the West" and "Now the Day is Over."

For his sermon the pastor has chosen the subject, "God Is Speaking."

"To draw apart from the temporal things is the first step toward achieving fellowship with God," Rev. Stamets said. "In the hour of retirement we not only speak to God but he also speaks to us.

"The depressing circumstances of our life today seem to force us to keep looking at the ground. Blessed is the man who is wise enough to lift up his eyes unto the hills whence cometh his help. God still speaks to his children."

The service starts at 7 p. m. and lasts an hour. All vespers are under the sponsorship of the Richland County Ministerial association.

Bezalel, the Skilled Craftsman — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Exodus 31:1-11; 35; 36-39:43; II Chronicles 1:5.

The Lord spoke to Moses, telling him that He had appointed Bezalel and Oholiab to make the tabernacle and all the furnishings thereof, and the garments for the priests.

The children of Israel brought all manner of gifts to Bezalel and Oholiab for the work of building and furnishing the tabernacle, until they had all the materials they needed

Bezalel made all the furniture of the tabernacle, including the Ark with cherubim at each end, and high wings overlaid with gold, and Oholiab made and embroidered the priests' garments.

When all was done, Moses looked upon the work to see it was done as the Lord had commanded, and he blessed the men who wrought it.

MEMORY VERSE—Ecclesiastes 9.10.

Pretty Boy's Brother Wins Sheriff Post

SALLISAW, Okla. — (AP) — E. W. Floyd, brother of Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd, one-time "public enemy No. 1," apparently will become Sequoyah county sheriff next January.

On the basis of unofficial vote returns in Oklahoma's primary election Tuesday, E W. Floyd apparently has won the Democratic nomination with a 300-vote margin. He will have no opposition in the November general election.

The notorious "Pretty Boy" was killed in East Liverpool, O., Oct. 22, 1934. He was shot by federal agents after they surrounded him on a farm seven miles from the city.

"Pretty Boy" lived up to his vow: "I'll never be taken alive."

And now his 40-year-old brother says he will live up to his vow —that of making a good sheriff.

His supporters think so, anyway.

An advertisement in the Sallisaw Times last week read:

"He ain't perfect, but he's honest, and we know he will do a good job."
